

I'm back on the golf course again.

Since my knee replacement surgery, we are back to the retirement we always hoped for – golfing and traveling.

Catherine Hahs, retiree, avid golfer and traveler

When Catherine and Lee Hahs retired they planned to spend their days traveling the world and playing golf. The newly-married, fun-loving couple had big plans. Unfortunately, Catherine's knees started hurting right after their retirement began. On a special trip to Hawaii with Lee and a grandchild, Catherine was barely able to join the fun and spent most of her time in the hotel. Then, on a trip to Europe, determined to not let her knees ruin another vacation, she ignored the pain and played golf, shopped and hiked in spite of it.

When she returned home she was in so much pain she could barely move. Something had to be done. It was time to stop the pain. She chose to have her knee replacement surgery at Self Regional, and now she's back to what she loves: golfing, traveling, and enjoying every day with Lee, the love of her life.
